Cancer Society Hears Report On Cobalt Unit Progress

Dr. James L. Lynde, radiologist at Lynchburg General Hospital, was the guest speaker at the first quarterly meeting of the Appomattox County Unit, American Cancer Society for 1975-76 on Monday night at the Fidelity National Bank, Hillcrest Branch.

Dr. Lynde explained in detail the construction and reorganization of departments underway at Lynchburg General Hospital under the "C-A-R-E Will Provide" program.

He explained the new wing will provide 200% more square feet costing approximately $3.5 million for construction and $1.5 million for new equipment (this includes $1 million for x-ray equipment). The cobalt machine will cost $150,000 alone.

The Gammatron S. Cobalt Unit will be made by the world-wide known Seamans of Germany who have approximately 500 cobalt units around the world. The cobalt cube, measuring 2½" square and radioactivated, will cost $45,000 and will retain its radioactivity for a minimum of ten years. The Seamans Gammatron S. will be able to rotate around the patient on the table being very flexible with everything power assisted.

The now projected full operation date is set for January of 1977.

Dr. Lynde said the conservative count of NEW patients traveling out of town for treatment is 120. This count doesn't include recurring cancer patients. The Lynchburg Unit will be able to care for 90% to 95% of cancer problems. Each treatment will take one minute of radiation, so many patients will be cared for during each day. Plans are for a Board Certified Radiation Therapist to be brought in.

Dr. Lynde explained one reason for the delay was because it had to be proved to the government planning council there really was a need for a cobalt machine in Lynchburg.

Appomattox County Historical Society Established

Appomattox County, known throughout the world for its place in American history, has vast historic resources beyond the Civil War which are currently known to only a few individuals. Combined with the tragic loss of the original county Court House in 1892 and its valuable store of historical information the history of Appomattox County is not as fully developed as it should be.

A group of local citizens, concerned about the rapid loss of historic structures and historic information in the county, have come together to form a county historical society. The purpose of this organization as identified in the "Articles of Incorporation" is as follows:

The business and purpose of this corporation shall be to bring together those people interested in history, and especially in the history of Appomattox County. Understanding the history of our community is basic to our democratic way of life, gives us a better understanding of our state and nation, and promotes a better appreciation of our American heritage.

Enrollment In Schools Up Over Last Year

Lloyd Walton, Superintendent of Appomattox County Schools, meeting with the School Board Friday afternoon reported that school enrollment in the county schools was up about 100 students over last year with a total enrolled at this time of 2820. He told board members that schools were filled to capacity but that a smooth opening was noted.

At Pamplin Elementary School enrollment is at 169; at Appomattox Primary School enrollment is at 549; 775 are enrolled at Appomattox Elementary School; 457 are enrolled at Appomattox Middle School; and 870 are enrolled at the new Appomattox County High School.

The new high school which only opened last year is operating now with aobut 100 students more than it was designed to provide for.

A group of area parents appeared before the board to compalin that their children had been re-routed to achieve integration and were forced to ride an extra 8 or 9 miles thus delaying them approximately 15 minutes in getting home.

Board members stated that the issue should not be black/white but convenience and safety of the children. The board's objective is to get the greatest number of students to school and back home safely in the shortest possible time, but told the committee of concerned parents that they would continue to study the problem and that changes would be made as deemed necessary.

In other business, the board approved the adoption of policy regarding management of student scholastic records and further adopted a policy regarding the determination of the eligibility of students for special educaiton classes.

The athletic program for 1975-76, including tennis and cross-country, was approved by the board.
